

Ways to recycle your car

Car owners have a car they will eventually have to get rid of. If you are in this situation then you may have already been thinking about what to do with your car if it no longer works, has been in an accident and can no longer be fixed or is a second car that you no longer have a need for.

Here are some things you can do to recycle your car:

1. You can consider donating your car to a local organization if it is still in working condition. The organization can then use it for their needs.
2. You can contact a junkyard and receive money for your car.
